Dingfelder family

This photograph was taken in the city of Plauen and shows Leopold Dingfelder's butchers shop.

In front of the shop you can see Leopold, his wife Johanna and his eldest son Martin.

As the political situation in Plauen became more difficult for Jewish families Martin, who by that time was grown up, left Germany and moved to America. Martin's mother, father and younger brother, Rudi, also left and moved to the Netherlands.

You can find out what happened to Rudi and his parents by visiting the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum website www.ushmm.org and typing 'Dingfelder' into the search engine.

Klipstein family

Ursula Klipstein was born in Plauen in 1930. Her family left Plauen when she was two, but her grandparents continued to live there. When she was eight years old Ursula returned to Plauen with her parents, they moved in with her grandparents (her mother's mum and dad) Theresa and Albert Wertheimer.

Ursula's parents tried to acquire visas to leave Germany, but had no luck and one by one, her father Leo, mother Irma, and Ursula escaped to Belgium.

This document was filled in by Ursula in 2007. It is in memory of her Grandmother.

Read it carefully – what do you notice about Ursula and her name, what clues does this document give as to why she survived the events of the Holocaust?

You can find out more about what happened to Ursula and her parents by visiting the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum website www.ushmm.org. Type 'Klipstein' into the search engine.
